

Veteran has an item, which will prove of interest to many readers. The Veteran says:

Mr. George R. Matthews, the noted painter of large decorative studies, is engaged on a beautiful canvas which is to be exhibited at the Jamestown Exposition in 1907. The picture, which will represent General Lee surrounded by the members of his staff, is to be eighteen feet in length and nine feet high. The stretcher for this enormous canvas has been specially constructed for Mr. Matthews, so that it can be taken apart and the picture shipped without danger of injury.

The portrait of General Lee and his staff will be exhibited in the department of fine arts, which will embrace the exhibits of paintings, drawings, engravings, sculpture, architecture, landscape design, and photography. In order that only the very best works of art may be placed in this department, a jury will be appointed to pass upon the admission of each exhibit.

Mr. Matthews is connected with the Corcoran Art Gallery in Washington, D. C.

Miss Randolph Hostess.

Miss Elizabeth Randolph, daughter of Dr. W. C. N. Randolph, of Charlottesville, entertained at dinner Friday evening. Guests and hostesses were: Mrs. John Jackson, Miss Helen and Gertrude Gaby, Miss Rosa Marks, Miss Louise Cabell and Mr. Blanton.

Mr. Jackson, who has spent the entire summer at Virginia Beach, will be one of the autumn chaperons at a large house party to be given by several club men.

At Virginia Beach.

Many Richmond people are still at the beach, though the cottages are for the most part closed. Among those who dined at last week's dinner were Mrs. John Jackson, Miss Helen and Gertrude Gaby, Miss Rosa Marks, Miss Louise Cabell and Mr. Blanton.

WEDDING BELLS IN OLD VIRGINIA

Windsor Home of the King
George Washingtons Scene of a Pretty Marriage.

HOUSE PRETTILY DECORATED

Miss Virginia Washington Bride of Horace Ashton Fitzhugh.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

KING GEORGE, VA., September 17.—"Windsor," the ancestral home of the King George Washingtons, was the scene of a quiet but very pretty marriage this morning, when Miss Virginia Washington became the bride of Mr. Horace Ashton Fitzhugh, of New York. Loving hands had elaborately decorated the house and the spacious parlor for the occasion, as emblematic of the lovely bride, who is one of the most popular and beloved young ladies of King George county.

Promptly at 9 o'clock the bridal party entered the parlor. Miss Sue Washington, a sister of the bride, as maid of honor, was most daintily attired in white, and carried white asters. The bride, adorned in white organdy, with orange blossoms and veil, carried white roses, and never looked lovelier. Rev. B. T. Turner performed the solemn ceremony. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Henry T. Washington. On account of the recent death of the bride's mother only the immediate members of the two families were present. After the wedding breakfast the happy young couple boarded the Potomac steamer for Washington, en route to New York, where the bridegroom has been in business for some years.

The bride is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William H. Washington, and the groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Fitzhugh, all of King George county.

The bride presents were numerous and handsome. Miss Annie Henderson and Mr. Horace Ashton were married at the Methodist parsonage on Thursday by Rev. C. E. Hubbard.

Mrs. James Horton, of Essex county, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mills, of King George.

Mr. H. T. Burnett has returned from Norfolk, where he attended the camp of the Patriotic Sons of America.

Mr. S. S. Minor, a leading lawyer of Washington, has returned home after visiting his father here.

SADLER CHARGES A CONFEDERATION

committee should be careful and deliberate.

So it would seem that at every move, Senator Sadler and Mr. Ould are on one side, while Messrs. Pulliam, Dunn, Rison and Roberts are on the other, and a lively war will be waged in when the committee finally meets and a vote is taken. In the preliminary skirmishes Senator Sadler threatened to send the sergeant-at-arms after Senator Rison and compel his attendance, while Senator Rison stated that if Chairman Sadler could be deplored by a majority of the committee.

It may be safely stated that the warmest of warm feeling exists among the members, and that the next meeting, whenever it is called, will be marked by fiery speech and unvarnished statements.

When the committee met yesterday morning in the cloak-room of the Senate at 1 o'clock, there were present Chairman Sadler, Mr. Ould and Mr. Pulliam, of the committee; Mr. Owen, secretary to the committee; Sergeant-at-Arms Watkins, and the newspaper men.

What Mr. Sadler Said.

Chairman Sadler announced that there was no quorum, but that there would be the next day. He said:

"The sergeant-at-arms will go to Albemarle county for Dr. Dunn, to Chase City for Senator Roberts, and to Chatham for Senator Rison, and bring these gentlemen to the meeting of this committee."

"The committee adjourned in Williamsburg to meet again at the call of the chairman. Senator Rison has played this game long enough, and I am tired of it. I will send telegrams to Messrs. Dunn, Roberts and Rison, and tell them that they must either come or I will send the sergeant-at-arms after them. Now it's up to them."

"If they had given me any sort of excuse for postponement I would have set the meeting for a later date, but they have not given me any excuse."

"The members of the committee must come together, and then if they desire to adjourn they can do so."

"The General Board has put off its meeting, and is waiting for the committee to report. It is not fair for this committee to postpone under these circumstances."

"The committee will read: 'Will you come, or must I send the sergeant-at-arms after you?'"

"I expected this action on the part of Messrs. Rison, Dunn and Roberts, and I do not hesitate to say that I am not surprised."

"My private opinion is that I have the power to compel the absent members to attend this meeting. There is no other way under heaven to get this committee together. They can come here and pass me, or Senator Rison can adjourn, but the rules of the General Assembly apply and I can subpoena them. I will use all the power vested in any chairman of any committee of the General Assembly, and all the means I can employ under the law to compel the absentees to present themselves."

Mr. Ould's Views.

Mr. Ould then expressed the following opinion:

"The committee adjourned at Williamsburg subject to the call of the chairman. That was done by the committee as a whole and without objection; therefore, the committee has the right in its opinion to call the committee at any time that it thinks fit, and the members as individuals have no right or preference."

"The committee should convene at the call of the chairman and as a whole; or, by a majority vote postpone."

"I think that the committee should meet and consider the excuses of individual members and pass upon their plausibility. The members should not undertake to pass upon their own excuses."

"I take it that this is a legislative committee and has the same rights as the Senate and House, and it requires members to attend in just the same way as it has the right to summons witnesses. Furthermore, fewer members than a quorum can remain in constructive session until a quorum can be gotten together, which can be done by the assistance of the sergeant-at-arms."

"From a personal standpoint no time suits a man to leave his business, but I feel that I am subject to the call of the chairman in this matter, and I prefer to

A Graceful Acknowledgment of The Times-Dispatch's Supremacy.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE,
Advertising Department.
The World's Greatest Newspaper.

September 14, 1906.

The Times-Dispatch,
Richmond, Va.
Gentlemen:

I cannot tell you how much we regret the mistake that we made in our paper. We got the figures on educational advertising from all the metropolitan journals in the United States. It never occurred to us to inquire for figures from Richmond, Va. The next time we have any occasion to mention a record on educational advertising we will certainly make note of the fact that your newspaper CARRIES MORE EDUCATIONAL ADVERTISING THAN ANY OTHER NEWSPAPER IN THE UNITED STATES.

I would be very much interested in seeing a copy of this educational edition referred to in your advertisement. Can't you send it to me under a marked cover?

Yours truly,
HARRISON M. PARKER,
Adv. Manager, Tribune Company.

may. I consider it exceedingly important that our report be made as soon as possible. It has already been delayed much longer than was expected.

"I think the people of Virginia have a right to know what the committee has to say about the management of the Eastern State Hospital."

(Signed) "EUGENE OULD."

Ought Not Subpoena.

Mr. Pulliam gave his views of the matter in the following statement:

"I don't think that Chairman Sadler ought to subpoena absent members for the reason that a majority of the committee have asked for a continuance until October 1st, and, in my opinion, those whom I have heard from, have assigned good reason for not being here to-day."

"Dr. Dunn assigned as his reason, that he is unwell, and Dr. Rison, that his business would suffer. I don't think the committee, if it can be prevented, should make any man's business interests suffer by forcing him to come here at this time."

"I have not examined the authorities on the legal right vested in the chairman to compel attendance of members. I desire, however, to state that as I said in my letter to Senator Sadler in reply to his communication calling a meeting on the 17th, that I for one, am exceedingly anxious to have our report prepared and ready by the next meeting of the General Hospital Board which I am informed takes place on 10th of October."

(Signed) "WILLIS C. PULLIAM."

Rison Refused to Come.

Sadler left the cloak-room to use the long distance telephone to summon Senator Rison to the meeting.

Senator Rison flatly refused to come. He said he could not come for reason he had already given, and that he would be unable to attend any meeting held this month. He asserted that he intended taking time to read thoroughly the record before making the report.

Shortly after this conversation with Senator Rison, Chairman Sadler sent the following telegram from Senator Roberts:

"Business engagements, both public and private, prevent my attending meeting this week."
"F. P. ROBERTS."

Senator Sadler then said:

"The members want to meet during the State Fair and the Horse Show, but I will insist that the meeting be held after that time."

The charge was also made that the absent members were endeavoring to delay the report until after the meeting of the General Hospital Board, which will be held on October 10th.

"Prearranged."

At this point Mr. Ould said: "Senator Rison is evidently satisfied that he can hold the other two (Roberts and Dunn) members of the committee."

Chairman Sadler replied: "He certainly thinks so. He gave no reason for not coming. It has evidently been prearranged that there will not be a quorum here to-day."

After some discussion of the question of meeting, Senator Sadler said that he had determined not to send the sergeant-at-arms after the absentees. He said: "Not that I have not the right, but I desire to do away with all possibility of friction. I greatly prefer to make concessions as to time and to subject myself to great inconvenience, rather than to stand upon my rights."

Telegrams were then sent to the absentees asking them to meet on September 25th, and the committee adjourned until this morning at 10 o'clock, when the report will be read.

Senator Sadler said: "It is a close confederation, and none of them will reply until they have heard from Senator Rison."

The committee then adjourned. Mr. Tom Owen has finished the four copies of the record, each containing six volumes and 3,500 pages. The stenographer's bill so far is $4,000.00.

ST. JAMES'S PREPARED FOR ITS DEDICATION

Bishop Galloway to Conduct the Impressive and Elaborate Services.

Bishop Charles B. Galloway, of Mississippi, will be here on Sunday, November 11th, for the dedication services of St. James's Methodist Church, at Twenty-ninth and Marshall streets, which he will conduct.

The announcement was given out by Rev. William A. Cooper, pastor of the church, who has given much time and effort during the four years of his pastorate to the upbuilding and organization of the new church. He expressed his finding the church heavily in debt, at a small congregation, but also a very earnest one, and some disorganization.

He gave this his attention, and he has raised the church on a sure footing, has paid off the entire debt, and has raised the money needed for repairs.

The church was built about fifteen years ago by a nucleus which moved westward from Trinity Church. It was a slow and arduous growth for the church, but today, after a long struggle, the members are about to be rewarded by the dedicatory services for which they have labored so much.

While here Bishop Galloway will be the guest of Mr. John P. Branch, Bishop of the diocese, and of the most noted members of the church, known everywhere for the largeness of his heart and mind, for his cheery disposition and for his sincerity and eloquence. He will spend Monday in this city, and will then go to Portsmouth, where the Methodist Church Conference, over which he is to preside, will be held.

Germany's troops fighting the natives in Southwest Africa are having an arduous time. Owing to the lack of railways, the troops have been on half rations most of the time since the campaign began. Occasionally they have had to eat the artillery mules, and they have often fought or marched for forty hours without a drop of water or any other drink. They are dressed in all sorts of makeshift clothes, including sandals made from the hides of oxen.

mineral exhibit ever displayed in this country," continued His Excellency, "and I feel greatly encouraged at the outlook. I have sent out a large number of letters relating to the conference, and the replies are all favorable. The mineral people displaying a most gratifying interest in the work."

The Governor will meet the traffic representatives of all the Virginia railroads in Norfolk on the following day for a conference relative to rates and transportation.

The railroads are taking kindly to this work, and the Governor believes he will be able to secure such rates as will encourage people in the distant sections of the State to make exhibits.

Barren unfavorable weather conditions, the trip to and from Norfolk on the "Emerald" promises to be a very delightful one.

T. P. A. Exercises.
President C. E. Herbert, of the State Travelers' Protective Association, has announced that ground will be broken for the Travelers' Protective Association Building to-morrow.

Among the high Travelers' Protective Association officials invited to be present to-morrow are Thad. H. Howe, of Chicago, president of National Travelers' Protective Association; Commissioner General Kent, of the Missouri Commission; and the Virginia State Poets have been invited, and it is expected that the T. P. A.'s will make a great showing from the States of Maryland, Virginia and Missouri. The T. P. A.'s are erecting a large flag-pole upon which their colors will be flying to the breeze of Hampton roads. The architect is now rushing plans for the Travelers' Protective Association Building. It will cost $5,000, will be one story high, with the gable roof. There will be two entrances to the building. It will have a large reception room, with two small rooms, one for ladies and one for gentlemen.

BENEFIT GAME.
Lawmakers and Hermitage to Play This Afternoon.

The Hermitage Golf Club baseball aggregation and the Lawmakers who are left will cross bats this afternoon in Broad Street Park. The Hermitage team has lost only one game this season, and they think that they can give the Lawmakers a tight push for the game.

McGuire or Ellyson will go in the box for the Hermitage nine, and Eckman or Cassidy will do the work for Shaffer's men.

The game will be for the benefit of the Richmond players, and it is hoped

LUTHER LEAGUE MAY COME TO RICHMOND

Rev. L. M. Kuhns Expected to Address Lutherans This Evening.

Rev. Luther M. Kuhns, general secretary of the Luther League of America, will arrive here this afternoon at 3 o'clock, and will address the Lutherans to-night at 8 o'clock at the First English Lutheran Church, Seventh Street, between Broad and Grace. His object is to look over the situation and hold a conference with all interested for the purpose of considering the convention in 1907, of the large body he represents, so that he may present the matter intelligently at the convention which meets October 30th, at Canton, Ohio.

This body has never met in the South, and Rev. Mr. Kuhns is inclined to make the opening in this city. All persons are cordially invited, particularly members of the Lutheran churches.
